What We Are Building

The Well is launching a collective, to raise up and support Tampa leaders building innovative, and sustainable solutions that are working towards a healthy and prosperous city. We aim to see mission-driven initiatives, whether they are private, public, or in partnership, from our communities develop into thriving ventures with measurable impact. The 813 Collective participants will receive wrap-around services, mentorship, and access to both a local and national network. With an intentional emphasis on social good, The 813 Collective will create an ecosystem that is effective, efficient, and sustainable in addressing social issues.

Each program will focus on three guiding components:

Self
The 813 Collective is dedicated to coming alongside and serving the builders who are actively engaged in their community. By providing education, resources, relationships, and community we are focused on giving individuals the support they need to achieve their goals. From dedicated time with mentors to fun events and informal outings a tribe of like minded, cross sector professionals who are invested in making a WellBuilt City will emerge.

City
We love our city and the people in it. Therefore together we will participate in various movements, programs and services that serve the city of Tampa and the communities throughout. The Collective will foster and facilitate a deep understanding of our city through the lens of history, culture, and service. The context in which we work must be understood in order for our work to have a lasting and meaningful impact.

Mission
Tampa is our city and by working together we can make it a better place for everyone. The diverse group of individuals and organizations in the collective, will help guide plans and strategies to maximize the impact in our communities. From venture specific training and resources to networking and relationship building, we will act as stewards serving each individual as they define their vision and pursue their calling.
